

Infant October Newsletter

As the crisp fall air settles in, October brings exciting new adventures for our little ones. The fall season is in full swing, and we've planned some fun sensory experiences for the little ones, incorporating autumn leaves, pumpkins, and cozy seasonal colors. Our focus continues to be on fostering the babies' motor skills, social development, and cognitive growth through play, songs, and Storytime. We'll also introduce themed crafts that encourage exploration through touch and color recognition.

This Month

This month, we're embracing the magic of autumn with Halloween fun, colorful fall leaves, and nature's treasures like acorns. As the days grow cooler, we'll enjoy outdoor activities, observing the changing colors of the trees and collecting acorns to explore texture and shapes. Halloween will bring plenty of playful dress-up moments, with a focus on sensory exploration and creativity. From pumpkin-themed crafts to autumn songs and stories, this month is all about celebrating the beauty of the season and creating cozy, joyful memories with your little ones. Happy Fall!
